

Toni Varila

CEO - Sasken Finland

Toni heads Sasken Finland and is responsible for Sasken's business and subsidiary in Finland. After studying Mathematics and Computer Science from University of Jyväskylä in Finland, Toni joined Botnia Hightech (acquired by Sasken in 2006) as a designer in 1999.

While he worked on WCDMA base station initially, after a couple of years he found himself moving towards managerial positions than technical roles. After years of working in various managerial positions in both sales and project deliveries, Toni began heading the company from March 2013. In the past, Toni has led HW teams who were responsible for making both the Inmarsat phones that Sasken has made.

Toni loves competing in Trapshooting and Motorsports. He participates as a competitor, event organizer and as a spectator in the latter.
